

0708

© 2000 Blackwell Science Ltd

—

פרקליטת המדינה

19/9

"My Father's work"

"The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the car was the smell of the sea. It was a salty, fresh, and invigorating scent that filled my lungs. The sun was shining brightly, and the waves were crashing against the shore. I felt a sense of freedom and adventure that I had never experienced before. The water was crystal clear, and the sand was soft and warm. I took a deep breath and smiled, knowing that this was the start of a new journey. The boat was rocking gently, and the crew was all smiling at me. I felt like I was part of something special, something that would change my life. The first day was a blur of excitement and discovery. I had found a new world, and I was ready to explore it all. The sea was my friend, and the sun was my guide. I knew that this was the beginning of a beautiful story, and I was ready to write the next chapter. The first day was a gift, and I was grateful for every moment of it. The sea was calling to me, and I was answering its call. I was free, and I was happy. The first day was the best day of my life, and I knew that it was just the beginning. The sea was my home, and I was ready to stay. The first day was a promise, and I was ready to keep it. The sea was my destiny, and I was ready to embrace it. The first day was a dream, and I was ready to make it a reality. The sea was my life, and I was ready to live it. The first day was a miracle, and I was ready to believe in it. The sea was my love, and I was ready to love it. The first day was a blessing, and I was ready to cherish it. The sea was my soul, and I was ready to find it. The first day was a revelation, and I was ready to accept it. The sea was my truth, and I was ready to live it. The first day was a journey, and I was ready to embark on it. The sea was my path, and I was ready to follow it. The first day was a quest, and I was ready to pursue it. The sea was my goal, and I was ready to reach it. The first day was a challenge, and I was ready to overcome it. The sea was my reward, and I was ready to enjoy it. The first day was a triumph, and I was ready to celebrate it. The sea was my victory, and I was ready to claim it. The first day was a miracle, and I was ready to believe in it. The sea was my love, and I was ready to love it. The first day was a blessing, and I was ready to cherish it. The sea was my soul, and I was ready to find it. The first day was a revelation, and I was ready to accept it. The sea was my truth, and I was ready to live it. The first day was a journey, and I was ready to embark on it. The sea was my path, and I was ready to follow it. The first day was a quest, and I was ready to pursue it. The sea was my goal, and I was ready to reach it. The first day was a challenge, and I was ready to overcome it. The sea was my reward, and I was ready to enjoy it. The first day was a triumph, and I was ready to celebrate it. The sea was my victory, and I was ready to claim it.